

Stem, Self-Delusion

You cannot feel life drained from you
Like leaves dried out and stepped onto
Why not save yourself
Not chain yourself
Help yourself
Stop blaming someone else

You're walking along    not coming out of this
You're working hard    not hard enough to quit
Not standing tall    see your world full of shit
Nodding among    another one part of it

How cannot you feel life drained from you
Like fallen leaves are spit onto
Why not save yourself
Not chain yourself
Help yourself
Stop blaming someone else

You don't belong to this
You don't belong to this

Ref:
You cannot feel life drained from you
Like fallen leaves are spit onto
When we've made it out of the walking line
You'll see what's in front of you
See what you've left behind
Feel what's yours right in front of you
See what's yours and what's an illusive lie

What if I came to you
Broke your life you hold on to
What would you do to me
If I tore it into piece or two
And built you something new
Something no fool can do
Not to walk same circles all the time
Quit the madness of the money mind
I give you more than hope
Cut loose of the safety rope

Step on the stage of hopeless fools
Like so many before and after you
Why not save your health
Not act to death
Find your wealth
Stop cheating on yourself

You don't belong to this
You don't belong to this

Ref:
You cannot feel life drained from you
Like fallen leaves are spit onto
When we've made it out of the walking line
You'll see what's in front of you
See what you've left behind
Feel what's yours right in front of you
See what's yours and what's an illusive lie

What if I came to you broke your life you hold on to What would you do to me if I tore it into a piece or two
And built you something new something no

Fool can do cut loose of the safety rope