

Stephen Malkmus, Baltimore

come on like gangbusters laying it thick arboreous sleestak lost in the sticks it's warm for a witch trial don't you agree?
cold are the hands that would ever touch me you got the energy of a classic creep with sex vibe for miles and shark eyes asleep no intuition, no need to sleuth poor is the man who would sully my view a one minute story is all that you are a song undeveloped beyond the first bar for all of your hassle/hustle, what did you win? woe is the man with the cheshire cat grin you criticize life, you criticize pain you criticize situations you've never been in but dawn for the debtantes will come soon enough. alright! the panic is leaking through every clear pore your ?? is weaking a sedifine torch so root for the crucifix on the ?????? alright i'm in love with the people i'm in love with the saint i'm in love with a soldier from baltimore, baltimore, baltimore