Steve Hillage, Pentagrammaspin

You can see This old world is spinning In the universe of circles

[Ghosts of?] Passing through the centre of the wheel Into the stillness of the spiral And then round [spreading?]

Back to the world Translucent liquid [Luna ?] [......] and the silver [......]

The more you fly Out of [bound] you're flying up [Into/In the] vibrating loving glowing feeling The more inside you go

And so you touch the fine points Of the energies inside you And quantify them then

But love is the law The law that turns the spinning star Maybe less, maybe more [.....]