

Steve Kilbey, Blessed One

Walked like a spirit
Ceratonic fog
Time crawls away
Like a snake or a dog

For god sakes wake up
You people need more
For god sakes get up
So we can score

Penetrate the truth in all its stupid shame
The gate that calls to us relegated down the chain
Improve upon the Vedic releases Eve again
Disprove the oppositions apparitions
Oh I reign/All our reign

(Blessed One) Blessed One
(Blessed One) Blessed One
(Blessed One) Blessed One

Amid unbeliever unclean and unchaste
Wandering like the wasted one
In the land of waste
The index as the futures
As the death spurs
Christ take your sutras
Call them parables

Small town, warm night
Wide-eyed and free me
Altars for lights
Banished and screaming

The revenue of telepaths were telegraphic
The flux of your fortunes used to stop the traffic
The samples of the core indicate necrotic
Just like Kali Yuga, that's so tragic

Background, blow down
Fade down, swooping
Curtain, nightfall
Banished and spooky

(Blessed One) Blessed One
(Blessed One) Blessed One
(Blessed One) Blessed One

Descend into the heavy world
Through the layers
Burning through the afterglow
Crashed between the flames
Sitting on the judgement when Paris chooses Love
Back in my apartment when the going gets too tough

Background, blow down
Fade down, swooping
Curtain, nightfall

With the speed of a gazelle
The smack of a flipper
Evolve into wings and fins
And hero into slippers
Defined nonchalance with your thirteen holy marks

Fumes cannot touch you
Harpy only harks

Background, blow down
