

Steve Vai, Here I Am

Can you hear me can you feel me in the darkness
I can hear you and I can feel you in the darkness
And it's good

Can you see my mind, can you feel how I use it
And if I let you in will you try not to abuse it?

However deep you go be aware we are binding at the skin
And when we're soul to soul you'll never know where I end and you begin
Save the sentiment for that storm that we call Life
Leave the dreck behind you and put me in your sight

Here I am giving you my everything
And here we stand at the start of a better way

If I could search your heart
I would treasure every universe that I found
Like a work of art
Its beauty is boundless and profound

After letting go
All your secrets are sacred in my keep
And everything I know
Will lie defenseless and naked at your feet

Breathe deep to relieve all your weary flesh and blood
Remember these visions when your other world comes undone

Here I am I give you my everything
And here we stand at the start of a better way

Here I am I offer you my everything
And here we stand at the start of a better way
Here I am
Here I am
