

Steven Strait, Boomerang

Help me lord I thought I found it
Just like a dream turned out all wrong
Don't feel the same madness about me now
Don't feel the hurting when I'm gone.
Don't feel the wonder of the sweetness
Don't feel the aching need to share
Don't feel the way I feel without you girl
Just to fly was in your head.
Should I never look into your eyes again
Should I never want to make the call
Should I never need you like my only friend
Should I read the writing on the wall
It's just as simple as a feeling
Just as simple as these cards
Why do I feel so god damn complicated
Don't feel the aching need to share
It keeps coming back without you
Like a boomerang through my heart
And curse that cupid ain't even found me, no
Into the wound another dart.
Should I never look into your eyes again.
Should I never want to give my all.
Should I ever need you like my only friend
Should I read the writing on the wall.
And all of it seems,
Hoping our dreams would fall together
Never to be,
If only one dream were dreams of love.
Help me lord I thought I found it.
Its like a dream turned out all wrong
Don't feel the same madness about me now
She loves to hear the sadness in my song...
