

Steven Wilson, The Raven That Refused To Sing

Sing for me,
Sing for me.
You can come with me
You can live with me.

Heal my soul,
Make me whole.

Sister, I lost you,
When you were still a child,
But I need you now,
And I need our former life.

I'm afraid to wait,
I'm afraid to love.

And just because I'm weak,
You can steal my dreams
You can reach inside my head,
You can put your song there instead.

Please,
Come to me.
Please,
Stay with me.

Please,
Sing,
Cry,
Cry.

Sing to me, raven,
I miss her so much.
Sing to me, Lily,
I miss you so much.
