

Still Remains, An Undesired Reunion

Hello,
It's been another two years now,
Since they've put you away.
Seasons come and seasons go
As we cross our paths alone,
And I just want you to know.

I hope you disappear again,
Words from now a stronger man.
De sure this time you stay away,
From all the beauty of today.

Oh how,
We keep meeting like this,
Just like when I was a child.
Weeks and months and years go by
As I was waiting here
And you still can't hold yourself together.
No.

I hope you disappear again,
Words from now a stronger man.
The thought of running away from you.
Something that I've got to do.

(I hope you disappear again)

The things you put before my eyes,
Nothing but the darkest lies.
I hope you disappear again,
Words from now a stronger man.