

Stonebridge, In The Rain

I'm walking along the river raindrops fall from the sky the eagle above never wonders `bout all the feelings gone by the flower-buds open their hearts theyre begging for water to fall as theyre starting to fill up my senses I recognize them all

(chorus)

falling far beyond the horizon falling in my and your lane falling in fear as the ground comes near theyre falling in the rain
theyre falling in the rain throttle in the tree can you hear me let me hear singing your tune stars in the sky let me be part when we take a dance with the moon butterfly open your wings woodpecker answer my call walking in midst the silence where I hear the raindrops fall

(chorus)

in silence they roam in the grass in silence they drop on a stone in masses they fall from heaven above but when they fall they die alone

(chorus)

(repeat twice)