

Story Of The Year, The Heart Of Polka Is Still Beating

This heart is bleeding desperation
And these dreams is still worth fighting for Cause in my eyes, this is the only thing that I fucking have
And I will never let this go.

This love is something that will never die
This blood still running through our veins
Like your words you know never came from the fucking heart
And I will be there to watch you fall apart.

[Chorus]
With the blood of the main frame
And with the heart of the system
Still you throw it all the way
And everything starts with you.

And now this time the words will be straight from the heart
You can't leave the life that was never lived
And this is reason enough to stand up
And make this life mean more to you

[Chorus]

With You

Every action it sparks reaction
And every movement it starts with you
And every action it sparks reaction
And every movement it starts now

With you
It starts with you
With you

[Chorus]

Every action sparks reaction
and every movement, it starts with you
Every action sparks reaction
and every movement, it starts now with you
It starts with you
With you

With the blood of the main frame
And with the heart of the system
Still you throw it all away
And everything starts with you
With the blood, with the blood
Everything, it all starts right now
With you, it starts with you, it starts with you
