

Story Of The Year, We Are Not Gonna Make It

OH!

He steps a shot foot into the room

She knows that this day's been long over due

Now as the tears fall down her face

The pain is real and it's starting to show

She says I know

We're not gonna make it (We're not gonna make it)

Until the lines that divide start to fade away

We're not gonna make it (We're not gonna make it)

Until the lines that divide start to fade away

And with a whisper she mumbles through

I guess they just won't accept me and you

They see a difference in skin

But I thought that love was always true

Who would have known?

That in a search for a parent's love

Her happiness though is just not enough (Not enough)

She tries to keep it inside

But through these hopeless eyes the world isn't mine

She says I know

We're not gonna make it (We're not gonna make it)

Until the lines that divide start to fade away

We're not gonna make it (We're not gonna make it)

Until the lines that divide start to fade away

(I'll show you) Until the line starts to fade away

(I'll show you) Until the line starts to fade away

I know I can show you that I'm not afraid

NO! (Because tomorrow will come)

And no I'm not afraid

(And we will no longer run)

And no I'm not afraid

(Because tomorrow will come)

And I am not afraid, not afraid

We're not gonna make it

Until the lines that divide start to fade away

We're not gonna make it

Until the lines that divide start to fade away

We're not gonna make it (We're not gonna make it)

Until the lines that divide start to fade away

We're not gonna make it (We're not gonna make it)

Until the lines that divide start to fade away

(I'll show you) The line starts to fade away

(I'll show you) The line starts to fade away

(I'll show you) This line starts to fade

It all starts to fade

It all starts to fade away

OH!
