

Stretch Arm Strong, A Time For Peace

far from a tragedy, your fire's too bold to be forsaken or burned out and cold, nobody's too tired, scared or afraid delusioned of your passing away it's not over the words that you shared gardens of memories tenderly prepared not over the spark in your heart not over, this won't tear us apart watch the weeks go by in seconds teardrops pouring through my hands can't find the words, so i sit still counting your breath for as long as i can without fear of this infection you stand up strong against the storm and though your path, it seems so rocky your love has always been so tender and warm

not over the spark in your heart

bless your spirit because there's strength to do it i know it's not over but it's getting tougher
i know

not over the spark in your heart
