

Student Rick, Falling For You this drowning sorrow is shaking me more than it ever has before the road signs reading bitter end leave me suspect of a crime the city air chokes me today

im nervous to feel deserved by these street signs anymore are you going to be waiting up when i get home well stay up all night

getting drunk and watching sunsets on our porch

im falling for you
im falling for you
i fell for you

these empty feelings question me of who i think ive become my mind is ticking life away asking if you are the one

im falling for you

im dying to explain my heart to you now
theres so much on my mind its tearing me apart
im falling for you
i fell for you
