

Sunny Side Up, Wherever You Go

There's a light in your window every time I walk by it leads me back to the days when we were still you and I every leaf in your garden knows a thing of the past it's maybe why I keep on wondering why our love couldn't last and I don't know where I should go when everything's right here
Wherever you go anyday it's meant to be
wherever you go
you're in my memory
I see your face in the mirror a tear in every eye and my friends here in heaven join me when I'm watching you cry yes I don't know where I should go
Wherever you go
wherever you go
you're in my memory
Solo
Wherever you go
you're in my memory
Wherever you go...
you don't be alone
