

Sunrise Avenue, Fail again

Hey man I can see you standing tall on your feet again
There were those dark days but youre far over them
Say can you remember all the mess far behind you
They were all so sure youd never find your way through
Feels like life for you today its only perfect
Seems like sorrow shame never was really there
These are the moments that you keep inside your heart to guide you then
The day you fail again
I am so sorry for the times I wasnt by your side
But now I found faith in you again with my own eyes
Say can you see the fear in me you will fall again
And you will be left alone although youd really need them
Feels like life for you today its only perfect
Seems like sorrow shame never was really there
These are the moments that you keep inside your heart to guide you then
The day you fail again