

Super Deluxe, Years Ago

We'd met one silent second once before
Collided tension all for fear
Walking a threshold that we musn't ignore
Message received
Loud and clear

I lost my heart to you years ago
Where are you where are you now
And so I learn what I already should have known
Years ago...

Somewhere else again and with someone else
My thoughts drift straight to you
While I am bitterly betrayed by myself
Despite the fight of intellect
Instinct will rule

I lost my heart to you years ago
Where are you where are you now
And so I learn what I already should have known
Years ago...

Love cures and love hurts
Love is and isn't true love
We're all alone....

In my mind I see you silently while you seduce me
I'd imagine every detail here as you're saying slowly
Come on come on right or wrong...
Your choice is only give in to me...

I lost my heart to you years ago
Where are you where are you now
And so I learn what I already should have known
Years ago...