

Superbus, On Monday

I pack my bag, put it on my shoulders
Take my scarf, and kiss my mother
It's still dark outside
It's so early, I rub my eyes
I say Hi to the baker, I say Hi
I meet my friends at the corner of the street
And we talk and we laugh like every morning

On Monday, on Tuesday, On Wednesday too
I'll always remember you

I sit down in the classroom
And look through the window
Open my bag, but I'm too slow
The teacher is yelling at me again for nothing
I don't care. The bell's ringing
I say Hi to the baker, I say Hi
I meet my friends at the corner of the street
And we talk and we laugh like every evening

On Monday, on Tuesday, On Wednesday too
I'll always remember you

I say bye to the baker, I say bye
I've lost my friends at the corner of the street
And I cry, and I cry like every morning

On Monday, on Tuesday, On Wednesday too
I'll always remember you
