

Switchblade Symphony, Therapy

You don't know how to start
Just look inside your heart
You know I feel confused
I don't know what to choose
You better take a stand
And find out who you are
You better make a plan
Cuz this has gone too far

When we went to the wishing well
We thought we saw the light
If you

Start, start, start to wake up
Scream, scream, scream all you want
See, see, see what you've done
Start, start, start to wake up

I don't know what to do
To make it right for you
You tell me I'm no good
I feel misunderstood
I'm sick of taking blame
Playing the same old game

When we went to the wishing well
We thought we saw the light
But even though we took that trip
It never came out right
If you

Start, start, start to wake up
Scream, scream, scream all you want
See, see, see what you've done
Start, start, start to wake up

Now you

Start, start, start to wake up
Scream, scream, scream all you want
See, see, see what you've done
Start, start, start to wake up....
