Switchfoot, Good night punk

Everything I ever need to know I learned at the punk rock show The punks should know How to throw an elbow or a fist A spitting world of hit and miss A violent kiss of that and this But hold on, hold on I'll never be quite punk enough Hold on, hold on I'll never be quite punk enough for you Ever since I first learned how to spit I wished I were a punk rock kid, a punk rock kid I never really knew quite what to do I'll never be as punk as you As punk as you, as punk as you And your tattoo But hold on, hold on Punk is more than leather jackets Hold on, hold on Punk is dead but pop was never cool What are we gonna do?
