

Sylvan, Heal

You could be the air I breathe in
The flood that will shape the stones
You'd symbolize shelter for me
The stars like to shine on

You'd give me reasons to exist
And take away my pain you would Heal all that time has failed to try
Be what it takes to comfort my life

And mean everything to me but future's not yet here for me
You'd turn every tear to pleasure
Caressing my eyes with rain
You'd calm down the storms of my life

Faith I can rely on

You'd fill all the clouds with daylight and While chasing the night away you would
Would you teach me, would you guide me, would you show me, would you try?