

System Syn, Burning Out

it's not enough to hide the misdeeds of our hearts behind the curtain sweep the ashes of our future off the deck and out to sea the solution is the problem without the end there is no meaning and we didn't come this far to create more self destruction

I don't expect that these eyes will ever see the break of day as more than just a sign that this will fade away

aware of all the words behind the curtain knowing how we play "uncertain"; destroying light before the day and turning this existence into ashes

I don't expect that these eyes will
ever see the break of day
as more than just a sign that this
will fade away
I don't expect to live that long to see the proof that I was wrong or hear the lies that everything's okay and nothing fades away

I won't fade away