

System Syn, Momentary Absolution

it took me almost two days to realize I had a gun in my mouth for you girl, I break all the rules for you I sing to myself let it rain down from the ceiling with my brains let it rain down let it rain down on you

I want to be devoid of consequence want nothing to matter but this moment and this taste of this life and this night and hope to bring no closure apply the pressure stop the bleeding but can't suffocate the dream it took me no time at all to recognize your disappointment just you girl, I never wanted more

let all the bad things I've done in my past be absolved in this moment let all the things I've done in my past be absolved for you

It took me twice as long to realize you were not thinking of me as it did for me to get over myself for you girl, I dance in silence for you I'll silence myself for in this moment when we share our eyes there is no truth and you would never listen to my voice in this moment let us realize in this moment when we share our eyes let us realize the truth
