

System Syn, The Saddest Sound Was You

another phone call another life lost to the monster Ive become I try to break apart from myself I try to believe there is a better part of me the half that used to do these things tries so desperately to die
I want to let it die
will you let it die
and pretend that I have changed

another phone call
another chance to prove Ill never kill again this has to be worth something cant a man like me hope to find redemption in the end

I walk on water always staring at the holes nailed through my feet
I know Im sinking
I always knew these wounds would be my ending

I dont have any strange delusions
I wont receive what I deserve I know the past is close behind me but please believe me that I tried

Please believe me that I tried
I want to let it die
Please believe me that I tried
Will you let it die
And pretend that I have changed