

Tad Morose, Leaving The Past Behind

Time is spinning around me like sparrows flying high
Live to learn the questions concerning what's right or wrong
Fading horizons the moment of truth has come
Darkness surrounds me as the final breath
Look through the sky far beyond the clouds
Telling me what do I see

Silence surrounds me as I'm falling deeper and deeper
I can't feel no pain as I'm leaving the past behind

Time has no meaning and I'll never see the sun again
Is it all for real as I'm leaving the past behind

Hate is all I've got left wonder if I've got it right Now I know I've been wrong tomorrow is still to come Fear the hate within you It's coming to reclaim what's yours future and past Now and then all in one and still to come

I am losing track of time how much deeper can I fall
Surrounded by my thoughts by my thoughts of it all
Now I know it's true as I'm falling into nothing else
Memories calling my name but I know that I've ceased to be