Tal Bachman, You're My Everything

Every time that I look in your eyes I know love never dies oh baby...

Love is blind, and I can't see Cupid's aimed his bow right at me I love you and adore you, You're all that life could bring, Baby you're my everything

Cynics sneer at fairytales They mock love and all its details But we've got something magical those fools have never seen Baby you're my everything

I can only stand for a moment or two, Being without you Oh, I know it sounds extreme, But baby you're my dream come true

Yes, we've got something magical those fools have never seen, Baby, you're my everything..
