Tantric, Before

One thing that I must agree with You got to step outside the picture just to see it Everybody loses it sometimes My eyes can't fake what you feel inside

Should of known the way I saw you standing Was it everything you imagined could happen Tried once but I got distracted Head first and there's no time for reaction

Got to go, got to get things moving You got to realize to think before you do it Found out by the time I knew this, the feeling slipped away

Can you ever imagine what it's like
To see every day
But through a hopeless set of eyes
Can you ever feel the want inside
It's all up to you
You've got to find out what you believe in over time

One thing that I must agree with You got to step outside the picture just to see it Everybody loses it sometimes My eyes can't fake what you feel inside

Sometimes when I'm almost empty I used to wish tomorrow never came and hit me But today is a time worth living So things have got to change

Can you ever imagine what it's like
To see every day
But through a hopeless set of eyes
Can you ever feel the want inside
It's all up to you
You've got to find out what you believe in over time

Can you ever imagine what it's like
To see every day
But through a hopeless set of eyes
Can you ever feel the want inside
It's all up to you
You've got to find out what you believe in over time
