

Tash Sultana, James Dean

You burnt out all the cigarettes
Watching james dean films on a monochrome screen
But I guess it doesn't look right
When everyone around you sucks
The life out of your life line
The truth comes out in due time
But the vibe you felt it first
And I ignored it
Oh, I know

I caught the high that you don't seem to care about the things I say, Oh oh oh (you don't care about the things I say)
And I severed ties with things that serve me no purpose anyway
Oh oh oh
And I kiss the sky cause there's no looking back from where we came Oh oh oh (there's no looking back from where we came, oh no, oh no)
And I felt alive and I would do it again anyway,
Oh oh oh any, anyway

You change shapes just to fit right in
And I'm talking shit, where do I begin
And I guess it doesn't look right When everyone around you just Disappears into the night time (night time, night time)
You'll get yours in due time (you'll get yours in due time)
But that night you were a jerk and I ignored it
oh, I know

I caught the high that you don't seem to care about the things I say, oh oh oh and I severed ties with things that serve me no purpose anyway, oh oh oh and I kiss the sky cause there's no looking back from where we came, oh oh oh and I felt alive and i would do it again anyway, oh oh oh any, anyway

anyway, anyway
