

Tears For Fears, The Tipping Point

You know that I can't love you more
You know that I can't love you more

Silver tongue they'll soon be gone
When the Sunlight hits the room
Lay down with them if you want

Watch their breath and feel the cold
Raise you hand
Bite you tongue
Conversation is over and done
Will you let them out?
Will you let them in?
Will you ever know when it's the tipping point?

So who's that ghost knocking at my door?
You know that I can't love you more
What's that shape climbing on my wall?
You know that I can't love you more
You know that I can't love you more