

Teddy Jr., Sitting On The Past

Little girl sitting on my heart
It's better to let go than tearing it apart

I know it's lonely and mean out there
But you have to find your way
And when you're drunk and you're feeling old
Just know that love will come someday

Little girl sitting on the past
It's well know that good times are dying fast

Sometimes it's good dream
But you have to stay awake
Keep on rocking in the free world girl
Even though it all seems fake

I have been sad and lonely too
But what else can I do
And have a little bit believe in the world

Little girl dying in my hand
It's a hard way and I understand
Oh Little girl.
