

Tenth Hour Calling, Waiting

Light is fading, night is breaking
I can feel it, closing in on me
Something's chasing me to the place where I
Feel so alone gotta think, gotta focus

Even though my knees are shaking
I will stand here till the break of day
You have called me here, I will trust in you
You protect me, I believe, I believe

I am waiting for you
Like a soldier waits for the day
I am waiting for you
Lord come and have your way

I am ready, you've prepared me
You're the only strength I need
When the sun goes down, here you'll find me
Watching waiting; it's my calling
