

Tessa Rose Jackson, Lost and Found

I was a fool
I was young and confused and I fell for you
You sang along to my favorite songs, yeah what could I do?

This love, love, love
It's just enough
This love, love, love, love

You were a child, you were reckless and wild,
Yeah how could I know
We're black versus white, we do nothing but fight
But how strong we grow

This love, love, love
It's just enough
This love, love, love, love

Lost and found, and found
Never meant to be, still we'll stick around
For now, for now
Lost and found, and found
We're the perfect fit, but we're inside out
in love
It's just enough
This love, love, love, love

Time to confess it's as good as it gets, it'll have to do
But we'll just admit we're not calling it quits when the others do

This love, love, love
It's just enough
This love, love, love, love

Lost and found, and found
Never meant to be, still we'll stick around
For now, for now
Lost and found, and found
We're the perfect fit, but we're inside out
in love
It's just enough
This love, love, love, love
