

Thaurorod, Destiny Of Winter's Child

I need your smile so it shines through my eyes
I never meant you to feel I am out of time
If I could make you believe in my eyes
Spreading our wings we would fly through the trecherous skies

I know your life
As I wait for my time
Together we rise from the flames

Here I am waiting for first snow to fall
This is the fight where the malice never dies

It is my time
To seek for the light
Forever we hide from the dark

I will make you see my tears are real
I will make you feel my heart that bleeds for those crimes
I know there is one path out in the dark
We will find it as we're circling around these walls

We are sailing astray
Our dreams drift away
We are sailing astray
Untill we unite..

I will make you see my tears are real
I will make you feel my heart that bleeds for those crimes
I know there is one path out in the dark
We will find it as we're circling around these walls
