

The Accident Experiment, Lost Kisses

After all this time,
with nothing left to say.

You, inside my mind,
you're beautiful, the same.

And I, as the stars at night, (and satellites)
to send a message to you.

And I, still far away,
hold in sunny days,
lost kisses meant for you.

When fear has crossed the line,
and hold me on to the grave,
you give me wings to fly above the universe,
and breathe another day.

And I, as the stars at night, (and satellites)
to send a message to you.

And I, still far away,
hold in sunny days,
lost kisses meant for you.

Sometimes I cry for you.
And inside, I'm falling to you.
Sometimes I fight with you.
And inside I die for you.

And I, as the stars at night, (and satellites)
to send a message to you.

And I, far away,
hold in sunny days,
lost kisses meant for you.