The Agony Scene, The Darkest Red

I bleed this blasphemy The sin that courses through my veins It burns beneath Beneath the scars of my decay

This suffering These fingers claw against my flesh I pray for this This touch that takes away my breath

I pray for

This is my final breath The choking end of misery My walls collapse I pray for death This is my final breath Peel back the flesh to watch it bleed The darkest red I pray for death

We share this suffering One open wound, a whispered cry It breathes in me, draining the life from the inside In ecstasy exposing my flesh to darkest red I can't resist this touch that takes away my breath

I pray for

This is my final breath, the choking end of misery My walls collapse, I pray for death This is my final breath Peel back the flesh to watch it bleed The darkest red I pray for death

Feel me, breathe me, bleed me, I beg you

This is my final breath, the choking end of misery My walls collapse, I pray for death This is my final breath Peel back the flesh to watch it bleed The darkest red I pray for death
