

The Almost, Everyone Here Smells Like A Rat

Irresponsible child get ahold of yourself
You look so different when you wear your everything
Just where they can see it, you ask me where do I go
Everything falls out of place
When you just don't know where to go

Everyone here knows how important this is
Their faces make them look so serious
It won't make them strong enough...
You'll never be strong enough

My precious boy I know how hard this really must get
Just come down, just get off, I'll give you half a minute
Get in the car let's go somewhere else
You need to chase away all the pain you think you felt
Scream, yell, pitch a fit, make a scene

Everyone here knows how important this is
Their faces make them look so serious
It won't make them strong enough
All of us here hate what we feel from you
We're not dignified but we know what's true
You have to be strong enough

Something more will have to stop you now
Unending grace will make you leave the ground
Something more will have to stop you now
Unending grace will make you leave the ground

Everyone here knows how important this is
Their faces make them look so serious
It won't make them strong enough
All of us here hate what we feel from you
We're not dignified but we know what's true
You have to be strong enough