

The Animators, Better Not Say

i would say i'm happy for you if only it were true and i could count the ways i adore you but what good would it do? while i was wishing for perfection on some romantic star i let you go the wrong direction as perfect as you are you're better than candy you're better than cake you're better than all that i asked you to take you're better than whiskey so you better not tell me if you're better off without me you better not, better not say you won't send an invitation and i won't send a card you'll collect your congratulations while i show off my scar and i can live with this conclusion 'cause i know you'll be fine but won't you leave me my illusion that i could change your mind?

'cause you're better than Amy you're better than Kate you're better than one more desultory date
you're better than whiskey
so you better not tell me
if you're better off without me you better not, you better not say you better not write me you better not call me you better not come to my door you better not hold me

'cause what if you told me you were better off without me?
if you're better off without me
if you're better off without me you better not you better not say

there's a world that's just like this one in some far galaxy where someone just like you is embracing someone just like me