

The Apathy Eulogy, Be My Rescue

In the fast lane doing 90
Miles behind me and miles ahead
It's been raining on the pavement
On my heart and in my head

It's kind of funny how they ignore me
No one heard the words I just said
In the driveway on this dark day
Close my eyes so my heart forgets

You can be my rescue when I
Need an outlet from what's bringing me down
I will stand by everything I
Claim to bring us to where we are now

All this driving isn't easing
Anything that I thought it would
But I keep on driving
I'm avoiding finding peace in the place I should

The weather's frightful
I am spiteful
I'd give it up if only
If only I could
Finally home and nothing has changed
Nothing here seems right after all

You can be my rescue when I
Need an outlet from what's bringing me down
I will stand by everything I
Claim to bring us to where we are now (2x)
