

The Arrogant Sons Of Bitches, Piss Off

p-i-s-s-o-f-f hey

i remember way back when, when i wanted you to be mine and now that i kinda had you i wonder was it all a waste of time and did it make sense jumping into something knowing that i'd get hurt i don't know but my boss thinks not it makes me less productive at work and all my friends told me look out, cause you were treating me like (shit) i swallowed my pride, and bit my tongue and tried to just deal with it i blame the whatever's termination on why things are never fine i dreaded this moment from the day that we met, we have to say goodbye now all i do is drink and smoke with all my friends i regret not moving on even though i said i did, yeah blah blah how many times do i have to call you just because you called me first, you see we're nothing together but a bunch of obligations, that just make me feel worse and why was i the last to know you were riding some other guy and why should i have even cared that night you said you cried well my stomach threw up my daily nutrition and your anti morals robbed me blind i loved you and you blew it and you broke your own heart so eat this last goodbye and all that money we blew on each other did it mean so little that you could just find another to replace me, whatever i mean, piss off, go to hell when can i get over this, stop hating myself and as the days go on i'll find someone better i'll go it alone and brave the cold weather through the blizzard like conditions screaming if i'm still alive piss off, this is the last goodbye this is the last goodbye (repeat)