The Beta Band, Troubles

It's about time that we fell in love You know that I've been trying It's about time that we had a laugh You know that I've been crying

Too many people, too many troubles Too many mouths are lying

If everybody laughed for just one day You know that'd make me happy

Too many troubles, too many troubles Don't know how we live so long Too many troubles, too many troubles It's time for us to live and laugh and laugh

It's about time that I said Hello to all those lonely people When I was at the back who could never talk back through all the tears and sadness

You never really know who's there beside you Who will be your comfort If everybody laughed for just one day you know that'd make you happy

Too many troubles, too many troubles
Don't know how we live so long
Too many troubles, too many troubles
It's time for us to live and laugh and laugh
