

The Better World, Eyes Of The Sun

Eyes of the Sun
(Matt Coban)

Lock your thoughts down in a state of mind
So I can ease your pain
Anything will feel better than yesterday
Look up to the sky, let your troubles run, fade into the sun
Feel the heat burn right through your eyes
It's been a while since you've been around, forgetting half your life
Don't forget why

Cause you're changing
And I'm dreaming
Just feel the summer heat get to our heads
I wonder, where you'll be, cause every time I look you are not there
And you can't hide inside my mind
There's nothing left to run from
And I'm stuck in between your lies
Just open your eyes to this world

There's no one left to blame this on Cause no one here seemed this real
I never know what to think
Could you just tell me how you feel?
I can't live like this at all
It's tearing me apart inside, oh in the eyes of the sun

Cause you're changing
And I'm dreaming
Just feel the summer heat get to our heads
I wonder, where you'll be, cause every time I look you are not there
And you can't hide inside my mind
There's nothing left to run from
And I'm stuck in between your lies
Just open your eyes to this world

I sit here powerless, and wait for you to help me
I sit here powerless, and wait for you to help me find myself again