

The Black Keys, Turn Blue

In the dead of the night
I started lose control
But I still carry the weight like I've always done before
It gets so heavy at times
But what more can I do
I gotta stay on track
Just like pop?s told me to
I really don?t think you know that could be hell below, below
I really do hope you know that could be hell below, below

When the music is done
And all the lights are low
I will remember the times when love would really glow
I could dream my happy for my world turn blue
And the light inside would only shine for you
I really don?t think you know that could be hell below, below
I really do hope you know that could be hell below, below
I really don?t think you know that could be hell below, below
I really do hope you know that could be hell below, below