

The Bright Star Alliance, Human Body, Anchor

As these waves crash down above me.
I'm shackled to the ocean floor, with water in my lungs.
Start my breathing.
An inception of hostility that's rapped inside my head.
Disconnected to the thoughts of you in morrowind.
Gravity will cradle me beneath you ocean floor.
This water becomes the only thing that makes me whole.
Please be the one to carry the air into my lungs.
You are the only one that gives my body that mercy.
The sand in my lungs it weighs me down...
An inception of hostility that's rapped inside my head.
Disconnected to the thoughts of you in morrowind.
Gravity will cradle me beneath you ocean floor.
This water becomes the only thing that makes me whole.
This sand in my lungs it weighs me down,
This sand in my lungs it weighs me down,
This sand in my lungs it weighs me down,
This sand in my lungs it weighs me down,
This sand in my lungs it weighs me down,
This sand in my lungs it tells me,
It tells me you're not here,
An inception of hostility that's rapped inside my head.
Disconnected to the thoughts of you in morrowind.
Gravity will cradle me beneath you ocean floor.
This water becomes the only thing that makes me whole.
