

The Bright Star Alliance, Oceania

As I glance upon the sky there's not a cloud in sight
The rain has crossed my path and has flood the earth below Flood it flood it out begin flooding the earth stop it stop it now
There's water all around me There's not a hand to hold onto
Not a breath to fill my lungs Replace the space with what you are Rising levels are leaving you below
This correlation between my blood and the water
Lack of each leaves my body depleted
As I set sail for the only land that I have walked upon it's no longer existent here Hold your breath now don't let it out hold your breath now this is your chance to breathe Why can't you help me now I can't take this anymore why can't you help me now help now