The Browns, After Losing You

All the places we used to go all the things we used to do
All these things are in the past now after losing you
Now my life's just one big heartache and my world is turning blue
I've gotta hurt I can't get over after losing you
I go to the places we used to go just hopin' to get a glimpse of you
And everytime I see you with your new love it hurts me and breaks my heart in two
I thought no one could come between us for you said you loved me true
You've put me down I went to pieces after losing you
I thought no one could come...
