

The Browns, Here Today And Gone Tomorrow

Here today and gone tomorrow our love would always be a hit'n run affair
I know you love me but I'm just a wanderer
Today I love you but tomorrow I may not care
For absence always makes the hearts grow fonder
I get lonesome for someone's company
You're here today and gone tomorrow and my loving you is just a fantasy ( steel - fiddle )
When you're gone I wish we'd never met for the memory remains within my heart
You're here today and gone tomorrow we can't be happy so I think it's best we part
For absence always makes...