

The Buzzcocks, Guess I Must Have Been In Love

Right from the start
I played my part
In this show
What if today
Was yesterday?
Who would know?
Take your time don't worry
There's no need to hurry
Anything can happen given time

Out of the blue
It came to me
What to do
Funny to say
It was that way
Now it's you
Take your time don't worry
There's no need to hurry
Everything can happen given time

You look at me while I'm looking at you
There's nothing in this world that we two couldn't do
I speak of love in a passionate way
Love is emotion what more can I say?
The rate of change is a sign of the times

I have no need to read between the lines
I had no time for anyone else
Guess I must have been in love with myself

Everything's changed
Nothing's the same
As before
Thinking of you
Things that you do
Make me so sure

At the moment I feel like walking through the pouring rain
Once I get my head together nothing will ever be quite the same

You look at me while I'm looking at you
There's nothing in this world that we two couldn't do
I speak of love in a passionate way
Love is emotion what more can I say?
The rate of change is a sign of the times
I have no need to read between the lines
I had no time for anyone else
Guess I must have been in love with myself
Guess I must have been in love with myself
Guess I must have been in love with myself
