

The Buzzcocks, Without You

I'm running out of valuable time
Without you
Am I a victim of your serial crime
Or just a taboo
You know that

Whenever we're together you just tear me apart
A filament of my illumination
Love that's never ever isn't really that smart
How could I be so blind

Since you left me I live life day by day
Without you
And at the risk of sounding like a cliché
It's making me blue
You know that

Whenever we're together you just tear me apart
A filament of my illumination
Love that's never ever isn't really that smart
How could I be so blind
I just can't get you out of my mind

Is that fear a loathing that I see shine through your eyes
A sheep in wolf's clothing well it took me by surprise

Whenever we're together you just tear me apart
A filament of my illumination
Love that's never ever isn't really that smart
How could I be so blind
I just can't get you out of my mind

Is that fear a loathing that I see shine through your eyes
A sheep in wolf's clothing would have fell for your disguise
A sheep in wolf's clothing well it took me by surprise
How could I be so blind
I just can't get you out of my mind
Out of my mind