

The Carpenters, Calling Your Name Again

I wake up in the dark
Silence brings me to my senses
I wonder where you are
Then I feel a pain, a pain in my heart
Cause I'm living without your love
And I'm all alone for the first time
And it doesn't seem to be a dream
A dream that will be over

All the words you said
Weren't enough to fool this heartache
Memories in my head
Aren't enough to stop me falling apart
Cause I'm living without your love
And maybe it won't be the last time

I don't know how much more I can take
Hope is wide awake and here I go

(*) calling your name again
Thinking of all that we two had before
There's got to be more this I know
Calling your name again
Remembering all the love you gave to me
And how we used to be

I think of what's to come
Then I turn and see your picture
The tears begin to fall
And soon I can make sense of nothing at all
Cause I'm living without your love
Hoping that I'll make it this time

Something tells me this is not the end
Wish I could pretend but here I go

Repeat (*)