

The Carpenters, You're Enough

You're enough
If I never had another
Never hold another lover
Baby, you're enough
All the rest are second best
Compared to you

You're enough
If I never know another
After what we've known together
Baby, you're enough
I've already had my sweetest dreams come true

Can't you see
In these eyes that adore you
I've been waiting here for you
Baby, can't you see
Look at me
See love's greatest non-believer
Believing that she might be seeing love
In your eyes

Stars above
Made for wishin', made for dreamers
Won't you listen to this heart
And what it's dreamin' of
If they'll only shine their lucky starlight down on me
Make it bright enough for only you to see
That, baby, you're enough for me