

The Classic Crime, Everything

Warm skin, smooth lips
Our hearts are strong and toned, our tongues will speak of the unknown
I know that when I'm out here on the road, your ear's pressed to your phone as you wait for me You're waiting there so patiently until...

I throw caution to the wind and suck your sweet poison,
your body's everything
As I trip on my desire I dive into your fire,
your body's everything

Fast asleep, my chest your cheek
You softly hum a tune to me from deep within your dreams Your eyes tell the story of my life and your smile... the reason I am still alive

You never let me down